

Europa Group acquires Life Science Access Academy and strengthens its Education division

Press Release

Toulouse / London, September 29, 2026

Europa Group, France's leading independent provider of medical information and education, announces the acquisition of Life Science Access Academy (LSAA), a UK-based company specialising in digital training for healthcare industry professionals. The transaction strengthens the Group's Education division, which provides ongoing training and support for healthcare stakeholders, and continues its European expansion following the acquisition of professional congress organiser K.I.T. Group last June.

Complementary expertise serving the healthcare industry

Founded in the UK in 2019 by Ian Chamberlain and Nigel Robbins, LSAA has developed an online training platform for pharmaceutical company teams, complemented by bespoke consultancy and training services. These services draw on a network of more than 400 experts and support over 200 clients.

The acquisition brings new digital capabilities and expertise to Europa Group in the UK, while opening up growth opportunities in France and across Europe, particularly among MedTech companies.

Ensuring continuity

LSAA's founders remain fully committed alongside the teams and will continue to lead the business. The company will retain its brand, organisation and commitments to its clients.

EUROPA GROUP

About Europa Group

Founded and chaired by Marc and Florence Doncieux, backed by Abenex since 2017 and led by Louis Verdier, Europa Group has, for 40 years, delivered a comprehensive range of information, education and services to medical communities through its leading brands (Edimark, APM, CHAM, PCR, etc.). Its activities are organised across four areas of expertise: Courses & Congresses, Digital & Publishing, Education, and Communication & Services. Based in Toulouse, the Group employs nearly 800 people across Europe and internationally.

www.europa-group.com

About Life Science Access Academy

Founded in the UK in 2019, LSAA provides a digital training platform for healthcare industry professionals, complemented by bespoke consultancy and training services supported by a network of experts.

Contacts

Europa Group Communications

Anne-Sophie Lartigau - Communications Director
aslartigau@europa-group.com

Mergers & Acquisitions

Quentin Frappier - Mergers & Acquisitions Manager
qfrappier@europa-group.com

EUROPA GROUP